FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Danby Announces Two New Features for its Danby Parcel Guard at CES® 2020 in Las Vegas

GUELPH, ON (January 6, 2020) – Danby Parcel Guard will be announcing two new and exciting features at CES in Las Vegas, Nevada this week. This smart mailbox, already equipped with many security features that will help you feel more secure knowing that you are protected from parcel theft, missed deliveries and weather damaged parcels, now has more features to ease your mind when it comes to receiving packages to your home.

The newest features on the Danby Parcel Guard include two-way communication and voice assistant compatibility for Google and Alexa.

The two-way communication feature allows delivery drivers, family, friends or anyone at your Parcel Guard the ability to call you by simply pressing the call button on the keypad. Parcel Guard owners can also directly call their unit using the app to communicate with anyone near the Parcel Guard.

The combination of camera footage and call functionality allows for increased productivity and security. Using the call button, communicate with delivery drivers to help them deliver to your Smart Mailbox and never miss another delivery. Keep potential thieves or trespassers away by letting them know you can see them and will call the police. Simply put, the two-way communication allows you to easily communicate with people at your front door while you are away.

The voice assistant compatibility allows you to communicate directly with your Parcel Guard. Ask your smart home voice assistant, either Google or Alexa, questions regarding potential and completed deliveries.

Buy Danby Parcel Guard direct at www.danbyparcelguard.com or from one of our many retailers, including Costco, Best Buy, The Home Depot, Amazon and more.

MEDIA OPPORTUNITIES: To book a demo unit to review, please contact Cory Weirmier at CWeirmier@danby.com. To arrange an interview with Jim Estill, CEO of Danby, please contact Cherie Bauman at CBauman@danby.com.
